OF TESTS

THESE TESTS WERE MADE BY THE
FOLLOWING METHOD: A SAMPLE OF
THE SUBSTANCE WAS PLACED IN A
WEIGHED CUP AND HEATED UNTIL
IT HAD COMPLETELY MELTED.
THE CUP WAS THEN COOLED AND WEIGHED AGAIN. THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN THE TWO WEIGHTS WAS THE WEIGHT OF THE VAPOR.
THE RESULTS OF THESE TESTS
WERE AS FOLLOWS:

FOUNDATION FACTS

CONCERNING THE

HAVERHILL.

The purpose of this brief sketch is merely to give the origin of many of our present institutions, the time when they came into being, as well as the time of some of the most important events in the history of Haverhill as a town and city. Space forbids that we attempt more. But in putting into compact form the history of those small beginnings whence so great results have flowed, we are sure we meet a popular want. All details must be avoided in such a sketch, else it would speedily grow beyond all reasonable limits. Hence we have confined ourselves to facts and figures as closely as possible.

Haverhill was first settled in 1640 by the following men from Newbury: William White, Samuel Gile, James Davis, Henry Palmer, John Robinson, Christopher Hussey, John Williams, Richard Littlehale; and by these from Ipswich: Abraham Tyler, Daniel Ladd, Joseph Merrie and Job Clement. The town received its name from the town of Haverhill, in Essex county, England, the birthplace of Rev. John Ward, who came to the town in 1641 as its first minister. The town was settled in season for late planting the first house being built and the first settlement made near the old Pentucket cemetery. The first birth was John, son of John Robinson, in 1641, who lived only three weeks.

The title to the land was purchased on November 15, 1642, for three pounds and ten shillings.

The first town meeting, of which record is made, was held in 1643, although such meetings were probably held before. In this same year, the Massachusetts colony was divided into Essex, Middlesex, Norfolk and Suffolk counties, Haverhill being placed in Norfolk county. Richard Littlehale was chosen first clerk of writs and town recorder during this year, and held the office until 1664. At the first town meeting, held November 6, the first vote passed was to prevent the unnecessary destruction of timber. On February 27 of this year Job Clement was granted land at mill brook, on which to set up the first tan-house of the town. The first marriage in town was on December 25, 1643, the parties being Job Clement and Margaret Dummer.

The town was incorporated in 1645. In October of this year the first church was gathered and Rev. John Ward ordained pastor. This church numbered eight males and six females, and was the twenty-sixth established in the colony.

In October, 1646, the first selectmen were chosen: Thomas Hale, Henry Palmer, Thomas Davis, James Davis and William White.

Job Clement was the first constable appointed, January 30, 1647.

The first meeting house was built in 1648. It was 26 feet by 20, one story high, and stood midway between the north and south bounds of the present Pentucket cemetery. In March of this year Thomas Hale made the first ferry, a little east of the foot of Kent street. In this year, Water street was made the first highway.

In 1649 Robert Clement was made the first deputy to the General Court at Boston. On February 18 of this year Thomas Hale was the first constable chosen. The first watch-house was built this year, and the General Court also ordered the town to provide a pound and stocks.

The first orchards were set out in 1650, north of the cemetery, which was near the meeting-house. John Hoyt came from Ipswich in this year, and was granted clay pits in the West Parish and 3-4 of an acre of land. He was the first brickmaker mentioned.

of the year 1875

Isaac Consins was the first blacksmith, and followed his trade as early as 1651.

In 1653 the town made certain grants to John Webster on condition that he establish the first saw mill, which he probably did. Mill street was laid out in this year.

On February 9, 1654, Stephen Kent was given leave to place a weir in Little River to catch alewives, and this is the first mention of fisheries. Thomas Dow died May 31, this year, the first adult to die in town.

The first Quaker arrived in 1655.

In 1658 the first administrator was appointed, Robert Clement on the estate of his brother John, who was lost at sea.

The first deed was given by Thomas Sleeper and wife, October 11, 1659, to William White.

The first burial ground mentioned, is in November, 1660, the land back of the meeting-house.

The first public school was established in 1660, and Thomas Wasse was the first instructor at a salary of ten pounds annually besides what the parents paid him. He kept that position for 13 years.

The first captain of militia mentioned was William White, in 1662, and Daniel Ladd was first lieutenant, mentioned at the same time. William Simunons is mentioned, this year, as the first physician.

In 1664, the first pound was built, near the meeting-house.

The first moderator recorded was John Johnson, at the annual town meeting in 1668.

At the annual meeting in 1670 it was voted to build the first schoolhouse, near the meeting-house.

The first house burned was that of Matthias Button, in 1671, which stood about one mile northeast of the village.

On November 18, 1675, Michael Emerson was appointed the first vicer and sealer of leather.

The first person killed by the Indians was Ephraim Kingsbury, May 2, 1676.

In 1693, Haverhill was first set into Essex county.

The first written ballots were used to elect town officers in 1682.

Simon Wainwright, who settled in town in 1683, became the first merchant or trader.

In 1685 the town meetings were first called by a writ of the selectmen.

Small pox first visited the town in 1690, when six persons died of it.

The first assessors were chosen July 30, 1644, and were: Capt. Simon Wainwright, Ensign John White and Cornet Peter Ayer.

In 1695, Lieut. Samuel Ayer was chosen first town treasurer.

On March 15, 1697, occurred one of the most disastrous Indian attacks ever made on the town. At this time Mrs. Hannah Duston was taken captive, subsequently escaping, in company with two others, by killing ten of her twelve captors.

The first clerk of the market mentioned was Thomas Eaton, in 1698.

In 1706 John White built the first fulling mill on Mill brook.

On the 29th of August, 1708, occurred the massacre by the Indians when Rev. Benjamin Rolfe was slain. On July 14th of the same year appears the record of the first church meeting.

In 1714, at the annual meeting, the first negro pice was ordered built in the church. In the same year is the first allusion to the stocks, in a bill for iron.

The first deacon spoken of was John Haseltine in 1717.

In June 26, 1721, Capt. Ebenezer Eastman is spoken of as the first man to get his living by trading on the sea or by commerce.

At the annual meeting in 1722 it was first proposed that the highways be mended by a rate tax but this was rejected.

In 1725 Ebenezer Eastman was the first to go with cattle and cart from Haverhill to Pennacook, now Concord, N. H.

On September 16 and 17, 1727, there was a great tempest, and on October 29 of the same year there was an earthquake that threw down chimnies, opened the ground in seams a foot wide or more, threw up great quantities of white sand in the river, and lasted for a week.

On June 18, 1733, the town voted encouragement to Henry Springer as the first ship-builder.

In 1733 appeared for the first time the scourge of caterpillars, that did great damage to the trees. In the same year the North Parish cemetery was first laid out.

In March, 1735, it was first voted to repair the highways by a rate, and four shillings per day was the price granted for men and two shillings per day for a yoke of oxen.

In November, 1736, there were 199 deaths from a throat distemper.

About November 6, 1738, James McHard built the first rum distillery.

On November 22, 1740, there was such a storm that the Merrimack rose 15 feet and floated off many houses, but before January 1, the river was frozen so solid that loaded teams went over it to Newburyport.

In 1741, the new line was run by which one third of the town was set off to New Hampshire and Methuen.

In 1749 there was a severe drought, so that not more than one tenth a usual crop of hay was cut, and hay was imported from Pennsylvania and England.

In 1755 there was excessive heat and drought and on November 18 a severe earthquake shock.

In 1759 Samuel Blodgett erected the first pot and pearl ash works, on Mill brook.

In 1765 Rev. Hezekiah Smith organized the first Baptist church, or "Separatists," which numbered 100 members in three years.

On September 4, 1780, the town voted for the first governor under the new constitution. The selectmen presided and John Hancock received 47 votes to 41 for James Bowdoin. It is worthy of note that Haverhill was only one man deficient in all the drafts made upon it during the Revolution.

In 1767 the first powder house was built, location unknown.

On February 22, 1768 the first fire club was organized, and Cornelius Mansise, Enoch Bartlett, Samuel White and Isaac Osgood were chosen first fire wardens. The club had 25 members.

In 1769, the first salt works were erected on Mill brook by James Hudson, but they were discontinued.

In 1771 the weighers of bread were chosen, Nathaniel Walker and William Greenleaf.

On August 1, 1773, there was another great tornado, 150 buildings fell, the Merrimack river rolled up its banks threatening to swallow the affrighted inhabitants, and the air was full of flying limbs of trees, pieces of timber, etc.

On November 14, 1785, there was an article in the warrant for the town meeting "to see if it be the minds of the town to have a bank of paper emitted if it may be done upon a solid foundation." This was a step toward the first bank, but it was negatived.

In the March meeting of 1787 the officers took the oath of office for the first time.

In 1789 the first school committee was chosen, consisting of the settled clergymen and selectmen: Isaac Osgood, Nathaniel P. Sargeant, John White, Captain Francis White and Capt. Samuel Merrill.

On Wednesday, November 4, 1789, at half-past two, in the afternoon, Washington entered the town on his trip through New England, and stopped at Harrod's tavern, which was on the present town hall lot. He met the prominent citizens, visited the duck factory on Kent street, walked up Merrimack street to Washington square and Washington street, so named in honor of his visit. Of the town, he said: "Haverhill is the pleasantest village I have passed through."

The first stage from Haverhill to Boston was put on by a Mr. Gage about 1790. It was a two-horse vehicle, and ran only when he had custom.

In 1791 Samuel Blodgett was chosen an extra representative, provided it make no extra expense to the town. He served his term, and covered all his pay into the town treasury.

In 1792 the town was divided into the first highway districts, of which 19 were made.

On September 6, 1793, the first newspaper was published by E. Ladd & S. Bragg. It was styled "Guardian of Freedom," and was edited by Benjamin Edes, jr. It was Federal in politics.

The first Haverhill bridge was built in the fall of 1798. It had three arches of 180 feet each, and three piers 40 feet square.

The first written school report was made in 1798 by Rev. Hezekiah Smith, chairman of the committee of the First district.

On February 22, 1800, the people met in the old meeting house on the common, and Rev. Abiel Abbott delivered a eulogy on George Washington, who had died in the December preceding.

The first mention of an aqueduct is made in 1798, when the town's representative, Nathaniel Marsh, was ordered to oppose the petition of a Mr. Osgood for leave to take water from Round pond for aqueduct purposes. But in 1801 the first aqueduct company was organized. The water was first taken in wooden pipes. The petitioners for leave to form the company to take water from Round pond, were: Benjamin Willis, jr., Nathaniel Ayer, Samuel Walker, Jonathan Souther and Jesse Harding. In 1801 the assessors were chosen as a separate board for the first time. In this year also the first fish wardens were chosen.

In 1802 appears the first list of voters and jurymen. In this year occurred the first Fourth of July celebration, at Lieut. Bradley's tavern. The first lodge of Free Masons was founded in 1802.

The first hay scales were built in 1803, on the north side of Winter street, opposite Pleasant, and the fee was 1 1/4 cents per 100 pounds.

In 1804 occurred the first public celebration of the Fourth of July. There was a militia parade, a grand dinner at Harrod's tavern, speeches, etc. In this year Ezekiel Hall established the first cotton yarn factory, which was also one of the first in the country. In October of this year, Sawyer & Cross first began the manufacture of cut nails. In December 1804 the first by laws were adopted.

The Haverhill Light Infantry was organized May 26, 1810, and Jesse Harding was its first captain. In August 1808, Morse & Fox put on the first stage between Haverhill and Salem making two trips per week. The first iron stoves were introduced about 1810.

The first musical society was organized in April 1812, with J. Hovey as secretary. It was called the "Haverhill Musical Society," and its object was "to improve in sacred music." Following the first musical society came the first singing school, in December, 1812, taught by Samuel and William Ayer in the old First parish school house. The war of 1812 was heartily sustained by the town, and the commencement of peace appropriately celebrated February 22, 1815.

In 1815 the first brick block, the Bannister block, was built. On September 23 of this year occurred the famous "September gale," when salt spray from the ocean covered the east side of the houses with a heavy encrustation.

In the spring of 1818 there was a great freshet, when the river rose 21 feet above high water mark and did great damage. In March of this year, the Haverhill & Boston Stage Company was organized, with a capital of $4200, and went into immediate operation.

In 1820 the poor farm was purchased.

In 1825 Lydia and Abigail Marsh gave one-half an acre of land on Winter street for the founding of an academy.

In 1827 the first general school committee was chosen.

In 1828 the first total abstinence society was formed, February 5, and was called the "society for the promotion of temperance in Haverhill and vicinity." During this same year the first steamboat, the "Merrimack," Captain William Haseltine, was put on the river, running between Haverhill and Newburyport.

On February 25, 1831, the first lyceum was formed, with James H. Duncan president, James Gale recording secretary, and Isaac R. How corresponding secretary.

In 1832, B. L. Mirick prepared the first town history, a book of 227 pages, which was sold for one dollar each.

The first railroad meeting was held at the Eagle house, January 7, 1839, when James H. Duncan was chairman and Alfred Kittredge secretary. October 26, 1837, the Boston and Maine road was formally opened to Bradford with great rejoicing.

The first anti-slavery society was formed April 3, 1834, with Hon. Gilman Parker as president, A. W. Thayer as recording secretary and John G. Whittier as corresponding secretary.

On November 19, 1838, Moses E. Emerson began the Boston Express business.

The first high school was established in 1841. In this year the firemen were first paid for their services, at the Stage street fire.

On September 4, 1845, Mutual Relief lodge of Odd Fellows was organized, the first lodge of that society in town.

Linwood cemetery was dedicated April 21, 1846.

In October, 1847, the Fraternity of Shenstones, the first village improvement society, was organized, with Isaac Ames as president and Thomas M. Hayes secretary and treasurer. This society did much toward beautifying the village.

In 1853 the first gas company was formed.

The first town high school was regularly established in the Academy building.

In 1858 Merrimack and Water street were paved for the first time.

In 1860 occurred the first strike, but it was a complete failure.

HAVERHILL HEROES.

Names and Rank of those who enlisted in the War of the Rebellion, and other interesting particulars concerning them.

The City records show the following facts, now published collectively for the first time, concerning the volunteers from this city during the late war of the Rebellion. The rank of each person is given, it being understood that, unless otherwise designated, all are privates. Those who were killed are marked "k.," died in service, "d.," deserted, "des.;" all others, including those wounded, marked "w.," are understood to have been honorably discharged. The rank held is indicated by the usual abbreviations. The list, however, will probably be increased a little, as new names occasionally come to light as being entitled to a place upon this roll. Although this record is incomplete, yet it will be worth a great deal to those who served in the army or the navy, for it gives them as complete a history as possible, in so brief space, of those who fought with them against treason and rebellion:

MAJOR HOW POST, No. 47.

This organization, which has for its single purpose the relief of the needy and destitute soldiers, sailors and marines or their families, was instituted January 8, 1868. It took the name of Major Henry Jackson How who was killed while gallantly leading his men in the fierce conflict of Nelson's Farm, June 30, 1862. This Post has spent thousands of dollars in charity, and they are still engaged in the good work. The following is a complete roster of its officers up to the present time:

Commander, Luther Day.
Senior Vice Commander, H. T. Fitts.
Junior Vice Commander, W. H. Holt.
Adjutant, J. K. Jemess.
Quartermaster, M. L. Stover.
Surgeon, E. G. Frothingham.

In June, 1868 the same men were re-elected with the addition of W. D. Wood as Chaplain.

JANUARY 5, 1869.—A public installation occurred and the following comrades were installed by Capt. C. W. Thompson of Lowell.

Sergeant Major, C. D. Edmunds.
Quartermaster Sergeant, J. B. Edmunds.

It will be seen that D. Smith Kimball was "third term man" while A. M. Tilton and Jones Frankle served two terms each.

HANNAH DUSTON.

The Presentation to the City of the Monument in Memory of her Bravery and Fortitude.

The name of Hannah Duston is one familiar to all citizens of Haverhill. Nearly two centuries ago she performed deeds of valor, heroism and endurance that have made her name historic. Already has a monument to her memory been erected on the Contoocook Island in New Hampshire, where joins the Merrimack and Contoocook river, on which she slew her savage captors and whence she made her escape. This monument was erected through the generosity of hundreds; but it remained for a public spirited and liberal citizen of Haverhill, Hon. E. J. M. Hale, to bestow upon Hannah Duston's native place, as well as his own, a suitable monument to her memory. The city is, indeed, greatly indebted to Mr. Hale for his gift, the purpose of which is most clearly and admirably set forth in his letter of presentation.

The gift was made to the city through the mayor and city council, who were assembled for that purpose. The mayor in behalf of the council spoke as follows:

GENTLEMEN OF THE CITY COUNCIL.—We meet here today as representatives of the city of Haverhill, to accept in her behalf, from one of her sons, the gift of a statue erected to the memory of one of her daughters (Hannah Duston), and it gives me great pleasure to submit to you the following communication from the generous donor.

Mayor Kimball then read the following communication from Mr. Hale, conferring the statue upon the city:

TO HIS HONOR THE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF HAVERHILL.

It has ever been a characteristic of the human mind and heart, in all ages and in all times, to do honor to acts of high daring and bravery.

The early history of Haverhill, which for seventy years was a frontier town, tells us of many cases of savage cruelty, perpetrated by the Indians upon its first settlers, and the sufferings and hardships endured by our ancestors.

Connected with those early times the name of Hannah Duston will ever stand prominent in the annals of the early history of Haverhill, her native place, for her bold and daring act in the slaying of her murderous captors at Contoocook Island and her escape, an act unsurpassed for intrepidity and heroism to any age of the world.

And we deem it eminently fitting to erect this monument to the memory of her name and character upon this spot, set apart as a public park by our forefathers in the early history of the town.

This monument is erected in honor of Hannah Duston, and presented to my native town in order to keep alive and to perpetuate in the minds of all here, and of all those who shall come after us, the remembrance of her courage and undaunted valor, and the patient endurance and fortitude of our ancestors, and to animate our hearts with noble ideas and patriotic feelings.

E. J. M. HALE.

Haverhill, November 25, A. D. 1879.

The following resolutions adopted by the city council, accepting the gift, were then read:

CITY OF HAVERHILL,
November 25, 1879.

City Council in Convention Assembled.

RESOLVED, That the thanks of the mayor and city council in behalf of the citizens of Haverhill are due and are hereby tendered to our fellow citizen, Hon. E. J. M. Hale, for the magnificent gift of a monument and statue in memory of Hannah Duston, presented to the city by him this day. This gift adds another to the long list already received from him, for literary, benevolent and patriotic purposes, and evinces his continued interest in all that relates to the prosperity and well being of our city. The citizens of Haverhill fully appreciate the liberality and public spirit exhibited by these oft repeated donations, and gladly acknowledge their thanks and obligations for the same.

RESOLVED, That the mayor and city council agree with the sentiments expressed in the communication from Mr. Hale, of the importance of perpetuating the remembrance of deeds of courage and endurance; and we cheerfully render tribute of admiration to our patriotic ancestors, and especially to the memory of Hannah Duston, whose fortitude and bravery have gained for her lasting fame. May this enduring bronze tend to keep in remembrance her acts of heroism and serve as an incentive to deeds of valor and patriotism, to all succeeding generations.

RESOLVED, That a copy of the resolutions be transmitted to Mr. Hale, and the same, together with the communication from the donor, be entered in full on the records of the city.

A large crowd witnessed the ceremonies and applauded when the statue fell from the statue.

THE CHURCHES OF HAVERHILL.

THEIR FOUNDING, PASTORS AND CLERKS.

The churches of Haverhill date back about as far as any in the state, and a detailed history of their existence would be extremely interesting. But in our limited space we can only give the more prominent facts, taken from the records of each society, briefly as follows, giving them in the order of their establishment:

FIRST PARISH (UNITARIAN) CHURCH.

The First Parish church was organized 1645. It consisted of eight men and six women. The first meeting house stood on the Mill Lot, the ground now occupied by the cemetery. In 1698 a new church was built on the ground now known as City park. The first bell ever heard in Haverhill was hung on this church in 1748. In 1776 a third new church was built on the Common, near the old house. In 1837 a new church was built on the lot where the present one stands. In 1847 the church was burnt and the present building was then erected. The First Parish church, like other Congregational churches in early days, managed its financial affairs in town or parish meetings, and was Orthodox in its faith. But a majority of the voters in the parish meeting, in 1832, voted to dissolve the connection between its pastor and the parish, and many of the members withdrew, and in the succeeding year formed what is now known as the "Centre Congregational church.

THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.

On the 9th of May, 1765 Rev. Hezekiah Smith, D. D., a graduate of Princeton college, and twenty-three others organized themselves as "The First Baptist Congregational Church of this section of New England." Their number greatly increased, and Mr. Smith was obliged to preach in the open air for awhile. During the season a meeting house was built. This church originated in a revival movement which began in 1764. The population of the parish was then about 1600. The result of Mr. Smith's labor was a call from several prominent citizens of "Haverhill Town."

The first meeting house was built without a steeple. In 1799 the house was repaired and a steeple added. In February 1793 the society was incorporated under the name of "The First Baptist Society of Haverhill," and the first society meeting was called by Samuel Whit, justice, March 11, 1793.

THE SECOND CHURCH.

The "Second Precinct" in Haverhill comprising the present North Parish and the towns of Plaistow, Atkinson and part of Hampstead in New Hampshire, was set off from the First Parish by vote of the town in 1728 and a meeting house built in the two following years, which was taken down in 1837 and the present meeting house erected the same year.

The Second Church in Haverhill then connected with the "Second Precinct" was organized on the 4th day of November, 1730, and consisted of sixty members who were dismissed from the First Church for the purpose of organizing the new church, and on the 2d of December, 1730, Rev. James Cushing was ordained pastor of the church.

The Congregational Church in Atkinson was afterward organized, and Oct. 25th, 1772, thirteen members were dismissed to unite with the Atkinson church.

The officers of the Second Church now called Congregational Church of Plaistow and North Haverhill have been as follows:

THE SECOND BAPTIST CHURCH.

The Second Baptist church was organized, January 1, 1822. It consisted of twenty eight members, ten men and eighteen women. A new church was erected, and dedicated February 22, 1823. It was remodeled, and rededicated with appropriate services, November 12, 1856. Its semi-centennial was celebrated in 1872. It has no settled pastor at present, (March, 1880.)

EAST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

This church was organized November 28, 1744. The records being lost and the church reduced in numbers, a council was called January 11, 1797, and the church reorganized. The parish originally embraced all the territory from the plank sidewalk to Rocks Village. In 1822 the Second Baptist church was organized at Rocks Village, and occupied about half the territory which formerly belonged to this society, leaving the meeting house, which, when built, was in the center on the extreme east side. Being thus crowded to the wall on the east it became necessary to make a westward movement, and a chapel has just been erected at Titton's corner, where there will be a regular preaching service every Sunday afternoon. The original number of members was 33; present membership 32.

The officers of the church have been as follows:

THE CHURCH OF ST. JOHN THE EVANGELIST.

The corner stone of this church was laid on the 27th of December, 1874, and the church was consecrated October 21st 1875. It was erected by the Rector, the Rev. Charles Wingate, in loving memory of his father, the late Hon. Moses Wingate. The property is conveyed to the "Trustees of Donations," to be held forever for a Free church. The sittings are all free, and there are no taxes or pledges. The incidental expenses are met by the free-will offerings of the worshippers, placed upon the altar on each Lord's day, the choir and congregation chanting "All things come of Thee O Lord, and of Thine own have we given unto Thee." The Holy Communion is celebrated on all Sundays, and other Holy Days; and, during the penitential season of Lent and Advent, the church is open for daily services. Since the opening of the church the sacrament of baptism has been administered ninety-five times; forty-eight persons have been presented to the Bishop for confirmation; twenty-nine marriages have been solemnized, and "earth to earth, ashes to ashes, dust to dust" has been said over the remains of forty-three persons. There are sixty-nine communicants, and about seventy families are connected with the church. Mr. Clarence E. Kelly is the superintendent of the Sunday school, and also the lay reader appointed by the Bishop. William E. Merrill is the organist.

GRACE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

This was an outgrowth of the Wesley Methodist Episcopal church. The limited church accommodations of the latter society led to the formation of a new society and the erection of another edifice for worship. The first steps toward the new organization were taken in the early part of the year 1870. On February 14 of that year "The Second Methodist Episcopal society" was legally organized in the office of H. N. Merrill, Esq., in accordance with the laws of this commonwealth. Their first public services were held in Music hall, March 6 1870, Gilbert Haven, D. D., then editor of Zion's Herald, but since one of the bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church, preaching the sermon. By March 31st, 1870, the membership of the new society numbered seventy-four, all of whom had been received by letter from the first church. April 11, 1870, Rev. L. D. Barrows, D. D., was appointed the first pastor. August 3, 1870, the first excavation was made on the lot purchased some years previously for the purpose of erecting thereon a new church. The corner stone was laid September 23d, 1870, and June 4th, 1870, the vestries were dedicated to the service of God. The complete structure was dedicated September 21, 1871. November 19, 1871, Dr. Barrows was compelled by failing health to resign his charge and the conference year was filled out by supplies from the Theological school of the Boston University. In April, 1871, Rev. W. F. Crafts was appointed pastor and remained until April, 1874, when Rev. A. E. Drew was stationed over the charge. He completed the full disciplinary term of three years and was succeeded in 1877 by Rev. L. C. Field, the present pastor.

There is connected with the church a Ladies' Sewing circle which in the last ten years has raised $6,411.55; an Auxiliary Woman's Foreign Missionary society, which has raised during the eight years of its existence $665.75; and a juvenile Band of Helpers which has raised for missionary purposes during the six years of its existence, $116.71.

PORTLAND STREET BAPTIST CHURCH.

This church, originally called the Third Baptist Church, owes its existence to the large increase in the members of the First Baptist Church of this city consequent upon the great awakening of 1857-8. A colony of 55 members of the First Church was dismissed to form this body. The first public meeting was held in December, 1858, and the body was formally organized by an ecclesiastical council, February 3d, 1859.

For the first five years services were held in the Town Hall and in Music Hall. The meeting-house on Portland street was dedicated March 31, 1864, and rededicated after extensive improvement, October 31, 1871.

THE NORTH CHURCH.

The North Church society was first formed March 1, 1859, and on the 19th of the same month it was decided to take measures to form a new church to be connected with said society.

This church was formed at the house of Moses How on the 20th of the same month, by a council convened for that purpose, with 29 male and 53 female members dismissed and recommended from the Center Church and one male and one female from the Bradford Church. In the afternoon of the same day a public service was held, Professor Phelps of Andover seminary preaching the sermon; and the new North Church was duly constituted and received into the fellowship of the churches. On April 14th, Rev. B. F. Horsford was unanimously invited to become pastor but declined on the 30th. April 8th, Luther Johnson was chosen treasurer; and on the 10th of July the first infant baptism was administered in the new church. July 14th, Rev. A. H. Quint of Jamaica Plain was unanimously invited to the pastorate, but declined October 18. July 20th the corner stone of a new church edifice was laid, and on February 15, 1860, the church, costing $30,000, including organ, furniture, etc., was dedicated. The building committee were Messrs. Moses How, James H. Carleton, Abel Chase, Elias T. Ingalls, John P. Randall, David Pitts, Franklin Brickett and William M. Chase. On August 8th, 1860, Rev. R. H. Seeley, the first and only pastor thus far, was installed.

Connected with the church is a very large and flourishing Sunday school; a Ladies Sewing society formed April 5, 1859; the Industrial society, formed in 1868; the Pentecost Mission band, formed in 1875 and the Woman's Missionary society, formed in 1872.

FIRST METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

Prior to the year 1833, the Rev. Messrs. Pickering, Broadhead, Peaslee and other Methodist clergymen preached occasionally in a Union church at West Parish, but we learn of no attempts to organize a society until the above date, when three gentlemen, Paul Chase, Moses M. Chase and a Mr. Southgate, united in a class and the Rev. Mr. Robbins of Salem, N. H., preached in the afternoon of alternate Sundays during the summer, in Academy Hall. Messrs. Paul Chase and Southgate moving from town, caused the effort to organize a society to cease and there was nothing done, until 1836 when O. S. Boynton, J. S. George, W. W. Chase, Rachel Gilman and Caroline Churchill, united in a class and were supplied with preaching for one year, by various clergymen from abroad.

In the spring of 1837, the Rev. Samuel Norris was sent from Conference as pastor, who remained about six months. In 1838 the Rev. James McKane served as pastor, in 1839 Rev. Joseph Bradbury, and in 1840 Rev. Mr. Brewster.

In 1841 Mr. Brewster was returned, but becoming interested in the anti-slavery question remained only half of the year and the Rev. L. C. Mattack finished the year. In 1842 the Rev. G. Otis Smith was appointed as pastor of the charge, but becoming an Adventist, after a brief pastorate, the charge was supplied the remainder of the year by the Rev. Franklin Furber. In 1843 Rev. Ebenezer D. Trickey served as pastor. In 1844 Rev. Lorenzo D. Blodgett was sent as pastor, but served only a short time and the Rev. Ezekiel Adams finished the year. In 1845 the Rev. O. H. Chase was sent as pastor but remained only a few months, when the society was left without religious services, which continued for over six years. The society disbanded and those who were so disposed united with the church in Salem, N. H.

In 1850 Moses W. Chase made a persistent effort to again organize a Methodist church, and in the evening of the 11th day of August a class meeting was held at the house of Mr. Fitts. The persons present were Joseph Fitts and wife, James Riley, Moses M. Chase and a Mr. Ainsworth. Soon after another meeting was held at the house of James Riley on Cottage street. There were thirteen persons at this meeting. Thus these class meetings continued to increase in numbers and interest, and Sabbath evening prayer meetings were opened and carried on successfully.

The present society was organized February 14, 1851. The Rev. Mr. Cass of Salem, N. H., preached the sermon. The services were held in Athenaeum hall on Main street, and were continued by supplies until Conference in the spring of 1852 from the Concord Biblical Institute.

During this period meetings have been held in Academy hall six years; Union hall one year; one year and a half in Athenaeum hall; one year and a half in the Town hall; and twenty-six years in the present edifice on Winter street, which was built in 1854 at an expense of $12,000. It has been twice repaired, the first time in 1870 at an expense of $3000, and in 1879 at an expense of $1536.

In March 1870 under the pastorate of Rev. E. A. Smith, there occurred a division of the society when about 80 members withdrew and organized what is now Grace church; and about 200 members remaining organized under the title of the First Methodist Episcopal church.

With the church is connected a new prosperous Sunday school, with a membership of over 300; also a vigorous Ladies' association and a growing Woman's Missionary Society.

DISCIPLES OF CHRIST.

There used to be quite a flourishing Church at Ayers Village, gathered and ministered to by William Murray. During the hard times of 1873-79 most of the members were compelled to move away, some of them, including Mr. Murray, going to Portland, Maine, others taking up their residence in Haverhill. Meetings were held here, beginning March 19, 1876; and on October 24 of the same year the following officers were elected:

Elders,	{ John Minod. Solomon McDonald.
Deacons	{ Wilson Tucker. Alpheus Webster.

In April of 1878, B. B. Tyler of Louisville, Ky., was employed to hold a meeting, preaching three weeks in Tilton hall. Until July 10th, 1879, the Church was without regular preaching, but since that date J. W. Robbins has preached for them.

This society originated in 1858, and commenced holding meetings in Athenaeum hall on Main street, where Odd Fellows building now stands. The first services were held in April, 1858, by Rev. A. J. Davis. Rev. William C. Clark commenced preaching for the society June 27, of the second year. Soon after a lot of land was purchased on the east side of White street, and a vestry, capable of accommodating two hundred persons, was immediately erected. The cost of the lot and building was about seventeen hundred dollars. The building and lot is now occupied by George W. Hanson, No. 6, White street. The vestry was dedicated January 6th, 1859, at which time a church was regularly organized. The latter consisted of 22 members, 11 males and 11 females.

In April, 1860 the society purchased the church edifice of the Winter Street Congregational society, at a cost of eleven thousand dollars, and immediately removed to the place which it has occupied until the present time.

Connection with the church is a flourishing Sunday school, organized in June, 1858; a Social Circle, organized September 8th, 1858; a Ladies Mission Society, formed in July 1874; and a Young People's Mission Band, formed in January, 1880.

THE CENTRE CHURCH.

The Centre Church is really a continuation of the First Church. A majority of the voters of the parish of the First Church, on account of the uncompromising orthodoxy of Rev. Dudley Phelps, voted, November 8, 1832, to dissolve the connection between them. Eighty-nine church members of a total of ninety-one, aggrieved at this action of the parish, were recognized by an ecclesiastical council, August 28, 1833, under the name of "The Centre Congregational Church," with Rev. Joseph Whittlesey as pastor.

The corner stone of the church was laid June 28, 1834, and it was dedicated December 17th of the same year. The cost of the building was about $8000, the land being given by Messrs. David and John Marsh. In 1859 this building was remodeled, a new front, tower and steeple being added, at an expense of about $11,000. This edifice was rededicated, January 27, 1860, the pastor, Rev. B. F. Hoxford, preaching the sermon. The seats are now owned by the society, and the current expenses are met by direct taxation on the sittings. In 1878, the church edifice was again remodeled so as to give Sunday School rooms and parlors in the basement, and the audience room was also improved. The total expense was about $8500, and there is no debt. The reconstructed house was rededicated, Tuesday evening, Nov. 19, 1878, the several clergymen of the city churches being present and taking part in the exercises.

THE FRENCH CATHOLIC CHURCH, 1871.

The French Catholic Church was established by the Oblate Fathers of Lowell in 1871, who attend twice a month. In 1872 Rev. Father Michaud had charge of the new French Congregation of Lawrence and that of Haverhill, to be attended twice a month, when Rev. Father Casgrain was put in his place by the Most Reverend Archbishop J. J. Williams of Boston, during the month of October in the same year 1872. This French church was then known under the name of St. John the Baptist Church. The services were held in West hall, on Water street, for four years. In 1875, Rev. Father Casgrain began the construction of the new French Church, which is on the corner of Grand and Locust streets. That church has cost, furniture and all included, over $19,000, of which $13,000 has been paid to the Lowell Central Savings Bank, where the Archbishop of Boston had made the loan to build with.

The number of members of that church have considerably increased, and the new church would be too small now if all the pew owners attend the services. It is supposed that about 100 families from Canada and other parts of the United States have come to Haverhill since last year.

A committee of 15 members of the congregation have the management of the financial business of the Church, under the care of the priest, who, in Catholic dioceses, has to give account to the archbishop every year. The Church now has the name or vocable of St. Joseph.

SOUTH (CHRISTIAN) CHURCH.

The first meeting of those who formed the Christian church in this city was held in Bradford in December 1803 at the house of John Marble, on which occasion Rev. Elias Smith preached. September 26, 1804, Elder Smith preached again in Bradford and again in Haverhill for the first time, November 27, 1804. During the year 1805 meetings were held in Haverhill and Bradford at irregular intervals by Elders Smith, Jones, Pottle and others. The record of the date of formation of the church is April 9, 1806. On that day the brethren and sisters in Haverhill and Bradford who had before been considered themselves members of the church of Christ in Portsmouth, N. H., organized as a Church of Christ to be in connection with the church in Portsmouth, Boston and other places where this sect was organized.

For several years meetings were held in private houses but finally a large room was obtained in the Whittier block, Merrimac street. The church was supplied wholly by itinerant preachers during this early period among whom were Elders Smith, Jones, Pottle, Palmer, Rand, Plummer, Farnham, Ramzey, Foster and Capron. The interest in the church gradually declined until meetings were discontinued in 1816. An unsuccessful attempt was made to reorganize the church in 1821 but in 1823 the church was reorganized and a glorious revival followed. Meetings were now held in the old Haynes house which stood near the corner of Emerson and Merrimac streets. In 1824 the church erected, and dedicated in the month of October, a brick chapel on the west side of Washington square which they called the "Christian Union Chapel."

In June, 1825, Elder Ebenezer Robinson was acknowledged as pastor of the church. He was succeeded by Elder Henry Plummer who continued the faithful and successful pastor of the church till 1843 when his connection was dissolved at his own request. Elder Edwin Burnham then supplied for three months and was followed by Elder J. C. Davis who supplied for a period of five months. Elder Timothy Cole then became pastor of the church and was succeeded at the expiration of two years by Elder H. P. Gifford who remained with the church two years. He in turn was succeeded by Elder A. H. Martin who remained two years and six months. Elder George Pierce remained with the church two years, Elder John W. Paley three months, Elder Albert Curtland eighteen months. August 3, 1856, Elder Plummer received a second call to become pastor of the church and remained with them six months. He was succeeded by Elder Leonard B. Hatch who remained until he was dismissed at his own request in 1861. During Elder Hatch's pastorate the chapel was remodeled and repaired thoroughly and a steeple and bell added the improvements costing $8000. The church was then re-dedicated in 1861, May 17.

Elder J. C. Emery was pastor of the church two years and was succeeded by Elder A. A. Williams who remained three years. Elder C. A. Beck assumed pastorate of the church at his departure and remained until April 1880, a period of two years and six months. Since then the church has been supplied principally by Elder Edwards of Boston.

A number of years ago the chapel on Washington square was torn down and their present edifice erected on Washington street.

The old records of the secretary are imperfect and it is impossible to give a full list of secretaries and treasurers. The two offices have been held usually by one person and so far as can be ascertained have been John Plummer, O. H. Roberts, John Tenney, J. C. Bartlett, Daniel Hackett and Charles Hardy, the present incumbent.

FIRST UNIVERSALIST SOCIETY.

The first religious service held by this society was in the First Parish Feb. 1814, in the First Parish Church. There was not a regular organization in town until March 17, 1823, when fifteen persons met at the tavern of Asaph Kendall and organized themselves by choosing Barnard Goodridge moderator, and Thomas Mealer clerk and treasurer. The name adopted was: "The First Universalist Society in Haverhill and adjacent towns." The first sermon before the new society was by Rev. Hosea Ballou in the old Masonic hall which stood on the north side of Water street. The meeting house was erected on Summer street in 1825. It was brick and without a steeple, but in 1835 a steeple was added. In 1855 the present house was built and dedicated January 19, 1856. In January, 1836 a bell was presented to the society by its members. The society was taken into fellowship by the General Convention of Universalists, 1828. On the 27th of June, 1887, thirty-seven members of the society were dismissed to

THE HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES

The history of the United States is a story of growth and development. It begins with the first settlers who came to the New World in search of a better life. They found a land of opportunity and freedom, and they built a nation that has become one of the most powerful and influential in the world. The story is one of struggle and triumph, of challenges and achievements. It is a story that has shaped the course of human history and that continues to shape the future of the world.

The story of the United States is a story of the people. It is a story of the men and women who have lived and labored in this land, of the dreams and aspirations that have driven them on. It is a story of the values and principles that have guided them, of the ideals that have inspired them. It is a story that is as much about the past as it is about the present, and as much about the individual as it is about the nation.

The story of the United States is a story of progress and achievement. It is a story of the great discoveries and inventions that have changed the world, of the great works of art and literature that have enriched the human spirit. It is a story of the great leaders and statesmen who have shaped the course of the nation, of the great heroes and heroines who have inspired the people.

The story of the United States is a story of hope and optimism. It is a story of the belief in a better future, of the faith in the power of the people to create a better world. It is a story of the courage and determination that have allowed the nation to overcome its many challenges and to achieve its many successes. It is a story that is as much about the future as it is about the past, and as much about the individual as it is about the nation.

The story of the United States is a story of the American dream. It is a story of the belief that anyone can achieve anything if they work hard enough and dream big enough. It is a story of the values of freedom, equality, and opportunity that have been the foundation of the nation. It is a story that is as much about the present as it is about the future, and as much about the individual as it is about the nation.

become members of the First Parish. On January 2nd, 1857, the church was re-organized. On April 12th, 1870, the vestry was dedicated. In 1876 the church was repaired and a new organ put in.

ST. GREGORY'S CATHOLIC.

The first Catholic religious services held in town were on the second Sabbath of September, 1850. An officiating priest from Lawrence had occasionally visited the city previous to this date, holding religious services on a week day. Rev. John T. McDonnell, a native of Galway, Ireland, who had just arrived in this country was the first pastor. The foundations for a church edifice were laid early in the fall of 1850, and on July 4, 1852, the building was appropriately dedicated. A fine house for the priest, immediately adjoining the church, was also erected. In 1859 the church was considerably enlarged, and soon after that a school for Catholic children was opened in the church vestry. There have been but few changes of the priests in charge of the church, which is at present faithfully and well cared for by Father James O'Doherty, pastor, and Rev. Edward J. Murphy, assistant pastor.

THE WEST PARISH.

In 1734 the west part of the town, by vote of the Legislature, was made the "West Parish of Haverhill." The first parish meeting was held May 1 of that year, at the house of Thomas Hayes, who was chosen moderator with Peter Ayer as parish clerk. It was then voted to build a meeting-house, which was completed the same year, the first services being held in October. A "Mr. Goggins" was the first minister, preaching four Sabbaths, followed by a "Mr. Skinner" for two months, who was followed by Rev. Samuel Batchelor, who was settled soon after accepting the call from the parish, which was July 21, 1735. From 1809 to 1818 the various denominations then included in the parish divided the amount of preaching in proportion to the amount paid by them in taxes to the parish treasurer. In 1829 the Congregationalists, finding themselves in a minority, withdrew and erected a new brick church of their own, one mile west of the old parish meeting-house. The new society claimed to be the "Church," and in May 4, 1831 Rev. Abijah Cross was installed as its pastor. The "Parish" remained as a Universalist society, and in the latter part of 1829 Rev. Daniel D. Smith was settled over them as pastor. In 1852 the Congregationalists, by paying $2400, became entitled to the rights of the "Parish," and to the possession of the Webster fund, then consisting of several thousand dollars, given in 1828 under such conditions that it could not be used before some such consolidation was effected.

TRINITY CHURCH

Episcopal worship was held in this town as early as 1767, it is supposed, for from this year to 1774, Rev. Mr. Badger, M. A., who was a resident of Haverhill and itinerant missionary of the society for the propagation of the Gospel in New Hampshire, held services in all the towns and hamlets in this vicinity, and it is quite likely he often held exercises in Haverhill the home of his family. On account of his toryism, Mr. Badger was obliged to flee to the Mother country in 1775. Rev. Rana Cossit, who was licensed by the Bishop of London to officiate in New England, March, 1773, is registered at Fulham as an incumbent of "Haverhill Parish." From 1775 to 1820 very few services were held, but during six months of 1820 services were held regularly with an average attendance of about sixty, embracing some of the most intelligent and influential men in the town. A Mr. Hoyey and Hon. J. H. Duncan frequently conducted the exercises. Failing to secure a resident minister services ceased. From 1833 to 1835 occasionally there were services, and then from this time to June 1855 rarely were meetings held.

In June 1855 Mr. Charles Wingate made an organized effort to establish an Episcopal church. An interview with Mr. B. R. Downes of Bedford resulted in securing the First Parish church in which to hold the first meeting. This meeting was held July 22, 1855. On this occasion Rev. Dr. Packard of Lawrence officiated. Considerable interest was awakened, and Rev. W. Calvin Brown, then of the Diocese of Missouri, having accepted an invitation to take charge of the movement, arrived here August 11, and the next day held the first regular service in the chapel of the Center Congregational society. On the 8th of October 1855 a parish was organized by the name of Trinity Church, Rev. Mr. Brown as rector. On the 8th of May 1856 the corner stone of the church edifice was laid, and on the 7th of January 1857 the building was dedicated. The cost of the building was about $7000. In 1865 the church was enlarged by the addition of a transept. In September 1869, a chime of new bells was put into the belfry.
